

May 25, 2022

Web Announcement 2789

It's Not Me or Is It?: Implicit Bias in Medicine ECHO Session Scheduled for May 31, 2022

Project ECHO (Extension for Community Healthcare Outcomes) Nevada of the University of Nevada, Reno School of Medicine has announced an upcoming informational session titled It's Not Me or Is It?: Implicit Bias in Medicine on Tuesday, May 31, 2022, from noon to 1 p.m. via Zoom. This session will be led by Nicole Jacobs, Ph.D., Associate Dean of Diversity and Inclusion, Lorrel Toft, MD, Cardiologist, and Aksha Narasimhan, Pre-Med Student.

Objectives for this session include:

- Describe implicit bias and how to identify it.
- Summarize how implicit bias relates to medicine and health care disparities.
- Explain evidence-based strategies to mitigate bias.
- Discuss ways in which implicit bias has impacted personal experiences, either as a health care provider or a patient.

If you would like to attend this session, please register here for additional information.

Note: Free Continuing Medical Education/Continuing Education Unit (CME/CEU) (AMA PRA Category 1, nursing) and Marriage and Family Therapist/Clinical Professional Counselor (MFT/CPC) units are available for attending.